

Faith & Learning

In this fourth and final article on faith and learning, we examine the interface between learning and living, to the place where 'the rubber meets the road'.

Jesus of Nazareth was known for stepping out onto the road, into life, engaging real circumstances and challenges, issues and injustices of his day. In addition to his spiritual teaching, he commented on religious tradition, tax policy, public health, and classism. He bridged societal barriers by keeping company with people divided from or opposed to one another: tax collectors, zealots, Samaritans, Jews, Gentiles, Galileans, Judeans, centurions, prostitutes, the religious leaders, and those believed to be religiously 'unclean.' For Jesus, faith was not something to be compartmentalized into a place of private piety. Faith was something to shape one's words and actions in public life – what we might call discipleship, or a moral vision, or a social ethic.

Karl Barth was one of the most influential Christian theologians of the 20th century. Barth was important for his commentary on the letter to the Romans and his sweeping systematic theology, Church Dogmatics, with its more than six million words (Don't worry, I am not suggesting that y'all sit down and read your way through that). He was equally important, though, for the very public role he took in resisting the Nazis as they came to power in Germany. Barth is often said to have lived his faith with a Bible in one hand and a newspaper in the other — and encouraging Christians to approach their faith and everyday public life in a similar way.

Who's Ready for Some Golf?

Our Golf Classic committee is hard at work planning our 19th annual event. Social distancing works well with golf, so we hope to resurrect all the fun the Classic has to offer for serious golfers and novices alike – think fun games, sponsorships, a raffle and prizes. At the same time, the Golf Classic serves as a major source of funding for our outreach programs that impact many in our community and beyond. After missing last year, we have lots of funds to raise! Our plans are to hold it on a Friday with a morning start similar to what was done in 2019. But We Want to Hear From YOU! Please click the link below for a very brief survey. We need to know how the Golf Classic fits in your plans this year—whether as a golfer, volunteer and/or sponsor—and which month you can attend. Fill Out the Survey!

How Did We Get Here?

Over the past months our nation has experienced a state of unrest and upheaval, incivility and injustice, distrust and discord. People have been harmed. Lives have been lost. Our faith teaches us that love for our neighbor sits in the heart of the Christian way of life, the Christian ethic. That ethic entails both personal relationships and societal ones. In order to better discern what we can do as Christians to live faithfully in these times, it is helpful to understand more deeply how we got here. To that end, the social justice team at FPLC has sponsored a lecture series by guest speaker Reggie Jackson, and a small group discussion of the film, Just Mercy.

FPLC's social justice committee will be hosting a book discussion of White Fragility by Robin DiAngelo. Are you interested in joining with other members of our congregation to reflect on some of the emotional, societal, and historical structures that make authentic discussions about race so difficult, and in so doing to take an important step toward making things better? If so, please consider participating in this important study.

Construction Update!

The focus on our building project last week continued to be the masons constructing our new structural block walls. The office addition walls are up and we've moved onto the sanctuary walls!

Here's what happened last week:

Cardinal Fabricating's erection crew (AGM Erecting) set the last column and beam needed for the precast. Additionally, they set the last 3 precast planks while they had their crane setup in the area.

Cornerstone Plumbing successfully found the sanitary main they originally believed had collapsed. The 4" main appears to be in good shape.

Ferrellgas picked up the propane tanks we had used over the winter for temporary heat.

JC Building Systems worked on select demo again by stripping old wall finishes where needed, select demo of old low voltage cabling, and demo of the old built-in gutter around the perimeter of the old sacristy. They also took delivery of the wooden roof trusses this week.

Lyons Electric continued working on layout and roughing in the new lighting feeders and switches in the lower level.

North Shore Environmental Construction mobilized and performed the lead paint abatement on the existing structural steel facing east in the sanctuary.

Paun Construction completed the block walls of the new office addition and the interior south wall of the sanctuary. They have shifted work to the north interior wall of the sanctuary and are at scaffold height around the east and south perimeter walls of the sanctuary.

Pure Mechanical continued work on installation of various elements of the new HVAC system. They are nearing the substantial completion (within the existing spaces) with the install of the new split systems, associated ductwork, and duct insulation.

Dinner Fellowship — TWO dates left! Friday July 16 & Wednesday, July 28

Do you have a great recipe that feeds a group? How about doubling that? You'll have a great meal for yourself AND you can take the meal to the men at Serenity Inns so they have a filling, delicious meal too! Volunteers can eat with the men or you may drop off dinner due to Covid-19. They follow Covid-19 protocols if you choose to stay to eat.

Serenity Inns provides a safe home for men in Milwaukee to recover from their addiction to drugs or alcohol. FPLC volunteers provide 3 dinners a month for the residents. This is a great opportunity for our Confirmation families as the men share a valuable anti-drug message.

To sign up and learn more about the Covid-19 protocols click Make a Meal. Do you have questions? Lorraine Buehler, FPLC member & long-time Serenity Inns volunteer can help! Email Lorraine at lcbuehler@cs.com.

How we understand our faith should inform and inspire how we live our life. It should shape our moral vision and practical ethics, both in our personal life and in our public life as we respond to the issues of our day. Our learning, then, as people of faith can and should extend broadly and deeply into matters of arts and sciences, politics and economics, religion and society. So at FPLC you will find small groups studying the writings of a wide range of authors, sacred and secular, as they explore how their faith might define their life in this world. As I write this article, we have groups who are studying, or preparing to study, the Gospel of Mark, the life of King David, the book of Revelation, interpreted by theologian NT Wright, and the book White Fragility by Robin DiAngelo. You can find out more information on our website, or by calling the church office. If you are interested in starting a group, or looking for learning ideas, please reach out to me. I love learning and faith and would love to be of service to you in your journey!

Grace and peace,

Pastor Bruce

Little Free Libraries: All Peoples' Little Free Libraries need a little TLC, which should happen at their Spring Garden Work Weekend (May 15/16), which is our Service Day. This summer, they want to fill their 3 libraries with a variety of books like cookbooks (especially featuring vegetables), Bible story books, books about nature and activity books for children.

Book Reading Videos: All Peoples is creating a small bank of read-aloud videos to use with their younger Peeps Academy children. Record a short book—about 15 minutes and upload it to their Google drive. Click Here.

Back-to-School Book Bags: All Peoples' kids were busy learning at home during most of the 2020-2021 school year. Whatever the place, whatever the mode, our kids will need a little help in order to be ready to do their best in a new year. FPLC is partnering with Winkies Toys and Variety! again this year to purchase school supply packs. We also hope to donate backpacks and scientific calculators. Stay tuned for more information coming soon!

Fox Point Church

This devotion, written by FPLC member Mary Buscher, was originally sent by email on April 21.

It's great to be together today!

"Let love and faithfulness never leave you, bind them around your neck, write them on the tablet of your heart." – Proverbs 3:3

We sing many of my favorite hymns at Fox Point Lutheran. The other day I woke up thinking about "Brightest and Best of the Stars of the Morning" and then found it in the Lutheran Book of Worship, # 84. Growing up at Unity Lutheran in Bay View meant using the thick Lutheran hymnal and struggling to find the right page to keep up with the service. At FPLC we use a weekly paper bulletin containing everything we need for worship; no need to jostle my neighbor to ask for a hymnal and no worries about passing a hymnal to the end of a pew. We have a finely crafted, easy to follow order of service with hymns, prayers, creeds and church news...all inclusive. Hallelujah!

When I brought out my FPLC hymnal, it made me smile and I sang #84 – very acapella! So many hands have touched those pages! So many children with chubby little fingers, elderly friends with wrinkled palms, visitors, long time members, strangers and friends, all part of one community. It is not about the old or new ways, rather it is about our church community through the years; all the members who have been welcomed and joined together in kinship. How we do it is not so important. What we do, worshiping, singing, having compassion and love for one another together, and our pastors who carry us through the dark and confusing times...that is important. We are those loving and faithful followers in Proverbs 3:3!

"Then you will call on me and come and pray to me, and I will listen to you. You will seek me and find me when you seek me with all your heart." – Jeremiah 29:12-13

From the Lutheran Book of Worship-

"Almighty God, draw our heart to you, guide our minds, fill our imaginations, control our wills, so that we may be wholly yours. Use us as you will, always to your glory and the welfare of your people, through our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ. Amen."

In all things, let us try to be wholly His! – Mary
